IFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 30 .- The weather today was in strong contrast with the wet and foggy days of last week. A number of visitors struck the town, but the majority took advantage of the sunshine and went to the reservoir. The fakirs were doing an excellent business, which seemed strange to every Pittsburger accustomed to the strict enforcement of the blue laws. I managed to secure a glass of soda in Cambria City, the first for many a day. General Hastings had invited a number of guests to spend Sunday with him. HARDWORKING OFFICERS. People may say what they please, but Governor Beaver has a hardworking set of staff officers. Every man at the head of a department is trying to beat the other in conducting his business properly. Accounts are kept of the most trifling details with the are kept of the most triffing details with the same exactness as if they involved millions. The most rigid honesty is practiced, but for fear some cranky legislator may question the books two years hence, the officers are taking the greatest pains in the preparations of their reports and the filing of papers in the accounting department. No money is paid out without a sworn voucher, and in addition, every man must be identified.

It was the old story of the penniless suitor cruelly frowned upon and turned away by the maiden's well-to-do and inexorable parents. The disappointed lovers went their respective ways and found other consorts, from whom, in the course of time, they were parted by death. Thus bereaved, and after many years of separation, the old time lovers met again by chance, and the happy sequel is told in the announcement of their nuptials and departure on the conventional wedding journey.

The men who left New York to-night are all believers in Sullivan. There were James Farrell, Joe Colurn, Jim Wakely, Charley Johnson, Phil Lynch, Leonard Tracey, John Bohanon, W. V. Molloy, Jack Cusack, Tom Farrell, Dan Murphy, of noston; Jim Fowier, Tom McMannes, Sid Bent, of Boston; T. A. Bingham. Frank Moran, of Bridgeport, and Barney Maguire. When they arrived at the ferry at the foot of West Forty-second street they found a horde of small boys from the tenements of that region who were delighted to see friends of Sullivan. The small boys looked at the sporting men in awe for a moment, and then, as they hurried into the ferry house, the youngsters by pumping him.

A special to Chicago from Wichita says:

A special to Chicago from Wichita says:

Thursday evening two men passed through Wichita on their way to the West, stopping off here one train. When her's the two men passed their time inquiring for one J. W. Harwood, whom they seemed to expect to find at one of the hotels. They boarded an evening train and just before arriving in Arkansas City one of them plunged a knife into his threat and cut a gash from ear to ear. He was taken to an uptown hotel, and in the meantime the second man disappeared entirely. The man who attempted suicide first said that his name was Thompson and that he was ex-postmaster of West Chicago. This morning, while in a state of delirium, the man talked continually of Cronio's murder and frequently mentioned the names of Burke, Woodruff and Norton. He seemed to be well acquainted with the incidents of the Cronin mystery, and about noon, during a lucid moment, he said that Norton was the man who was with him when he attempted suicide, though he denied all knowledge of the Cronin affair.

The authorities here and in Arkansas City believe him to be Cooney, the "Fox." He was asked this afternoon if he knew Burke and Sullivan, and he admitted that he had seen them both. His wounds are deep, and although there is a possibility of his recovery, it is not likely that he will see Monday morning. He says that before he dies he has a statement to make, but all efforts to get him to talk this afternoon failed.

Another special to Chicago from Arkan-CHEERED FOR JOHN L. It seemed as it all the other passengers over at the Weehawken station who were going out on the 8:15 train knew that the Sullivan party was to be aboard, and they took great interest in the group of sporting gentlemen.

Sullivan stock was high all over town to-day, for there was a general growth of the idea that Muldoon had got the big fighter into first that Muldoon had got the big fighter into first rate shape. Some men are prophesying, however, that the change of climate will hurt Sullivan more than Kilrain, for the difference between the clear air of Belfast and the air of New Orleans will be greater than the difference between Baltimore and New Orleans.

Aspecial from New Orleans says: New Orleans is wildly excited over the coming Kilrain-Sullivan fight, and it is the only subject of discussion here. Frank Stevenson, who is now backing Kilrain, and who was until recently an ardent supporter of Sullivan, explains why be deserted the champion. "I bet on him," he said, "until after the Mitchell flasco. I was certain that Sullivan would win, as I know that he worked hard for it, and that he did not drink a drop in England. Sullivan's special qualifications are for a fight under the Marquis of Queensberry rules. He is the greatest Marquis of Queensberry fighter the world has ever seen. No man living can beat him in a four-round glove fight. But in battles to a finish, where generalship and staying powers are needed, Sullivan is not near as great as Kilrain. I have watched Kilrain, and see that he is the

and passed, are as follows:

That all contracts, agreements, understandings and combinations made, entered into, or knowingly assented to, by and between any parties capable of making a contract or agreement which would be valid at law or in equity, the purpose or object or intent of which shall be to limit, control, or in any manner to restrict or regulate the amount of production or the quantity of any article or commedity to be raised or produced by mining, manufacture, agriculture or any other branch of business or labor, or to enhance, control or regulate the market price thereof, or in any manner to prevent or restrict free competition in the production or sale of any such article or commodity, shall be utterly illegal and void, and every such contract, agreement, understanding and combination shall constitute a criminal conspiracy; and every person who for himself personally or as a member, agent or officers of a corporation, or of any association for business purposes of any kind, who shall enter into or knowingly consent to any such void and illegal contract, agreement, understanding or commission, shall be deemed a party to such conspiracy; and all parties so offending shall, on conviction thereof, be find not less than 550 nor more than 3500 or imprisonment for six months.

The act does not apply to what is known prisonment for six months.

The act does not apply to what is known as "good will" in any trade or business, but does apply to contracts or combinations made in other States or countries, of the character referred to and intended to apply to business in Michigan. It does not apply to agricultural products or live stock while in the hands of producer or raiser, nor to laborers or artisans who are formed into securities.

COONS QUEERLY AFFECTED. The Connecticut Animals All Becoming Par-

They crawled from their nests to the brooks to drink, were stricken with paralysis in the bind quarters, and were unable to crawi back. They either died in the fields or were killed by the farmers' boys, who were after their peits. It has also been ascertained that coons are not has also been ascertained that coops are not the only sufferers. Woodchucks and even domestic cats are afflicted in the same way, and for two weeks back several hundred of the former have been killed in the town of Bridgewater. One wildcat was found by a farmer in Southbury and killed. He was also paralyzed in the hind quarters. The matter is attracting widespread attention, and it is the topic uppermost in the conversation of the farmers as they meet at the village grocery on Saturdays while doing their weekly trading. No explanation is given except poisoning, but, as the epidemic is prevalent along the whole length of the river on both sides, that is not satisfactory.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

There is not only considerable pleasure to be derived, but much information to be gained from a conversation with the veteran of baseball, Mr. Harry Wright. Few men in the country have had the amount of practical experience in the national game that the genial manager of the Phillies has formed regarding it and its historical and scientific features. Last evening Mr. Wright expressed himself at length to the writer

on many interesting baseball topics: He said

WILL PLAY EVERY DAY. Sunday Ball to be Given by the Wheeling commences, but I don't at all expect that it will be abolished. There are faults connected with it, both as regards high salaries and low Club Herenfter. [RPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] WHEELING, June 38.—Wheeling has at last decided to play Sunday ball. The lovers of the game in this city are mostly working people, and they demand of the management a change, are classed lower than they should be. But we must remember that the rule as a system is an to have a half day's rest and recreation without losing their day's work, which is not only a loss of time but money as well. The team thus far has won four and lost four games on their trip. They play three with Mansfield, commencing to-day, where they expect to win two of the three games.

President Powell has received a telegram from the Cincinnati club, offering Kennedy's release. He will not part with Kennedy just yet. Mechan the new pitcher, will likely report for duty to-morrow. He is said to be a good man, and with Sunday games baseball in pretty deep in their pockets to keep up the

It was simply a question of how many runs will The McKeesport Baseball Club will now have The McKeesport Baseball Club will now have to do something more than talk to get even with the Scotts, of this city. Last evening Mr. J. W. Scott, manager of the Scotts, called at this office and replied to the charges of the McKeesport club against his team. He said:

"I want it distinctly understood that we are no bluffers, but we mean business everytime. The reason we did not arrange to go to McKeesport on the Fourth was because they would not give us two dates on that day, and we got two dates at another place. Now, about the blowing. I'll test McKeesport by challenging them to play us at Recreation Park on July 8, 10 and 11 for $100 a side, I now leave a check for that amount with The DISPATCH, and if the McKeesporters will meet me at The DISPATCH office on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock we'll get down to business." Boston finish ahead to-day? The general result was a foregone conclusion. The principle of classification helps poor clubs to get as good players as wealthy clubs.
"I am not sure as to what the American Association will do in the matter. It is waiting to see how the plan works with us, but I don't think there is stability enough in the Association to formulate any new plans. There is arrays considerable distrust in that organization, as one club is lavariably suspecting another making a more to join the League. This proves that the Association members themselves look to the League rience enough to know his position. The infield is not made up of kids by any means, and the outfield is good. The batteries are also very strong, and, as I have said, the players are so equal that they play a very steady game. New York is a great team, but has been bothered with its pitchers. The Giants are a dangerous lot, indeed. But Chicago is getting into shape, and when it is all right, we must look out." Base hits-Daytons, 9; Cantons, 7. Earned runs-Daytons, 5; Cantons, 2. The big Greek had blood in his eye, and made the following statement in a tions for any Indians to leave the reserva-

very emphatic manner:

"I see that Duncan Ross has my name announced among the entries for the wrestling tournament which takes place at Recreation Park on the Fourth. Now, I want to say that I authorized nobody to put my name on that bill, but I have come here to make a match to wrestle Ross in any style he likes. I won't wrestle him on Thursday, but I want to meet him for a stake, I will force him to wrestle me or he must shut up."

Regarding the great tournament and mounted broad-sword combat, the following letter was received at this office from Boston yesterday: "Deacon" White has returned bome and his signing is just as likely now as it ever was. He emphatically holds out for half of his purfore, refuses to sign with Pittsburg. While here he put his case in a nutshell by saying that he either wanted to play or have his release. The fact is, however, as stated previously in these columns, the "Deacon" does not want to play here. He came here to try and obtain his release so that he could play in Buffalo.

It is probable that he will now ask his lawyer's advice as to what he should do next. The Deacon, when in this city, intimated that there was such a thing as making people pay for conspiring to deprive another man of his means of livelihood. He claims that the Pittshurg club and the League are doing this, and that the laws of the country are opposed to such like action. lease. The fact is, however, as stated previesterday: to the Sporting Editor of The Dispatch: To the Sporting Editor of The Dispaten:

Danforth had the advantage of experience and age. He is 30 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighed 121 younds. He is a veteran in the ring and has met the best at his weight. He fought Ike Weir to a draw. He fought Tommy Warren, the California Athletic Club's favorite, twice, each winning a match. Lynch began the fight a second atter time was called with a right hand swing on Danforth's cheek. Danforth dodged back and slipped. He fell on his hands and knees, but was up in a moment, and planted a hot one on Lynch's jaw. Lynch smilled and got in two good ones in return. In the nineteenth round both showed punishment. At the close of the round Lynch got in a good upper cut on Danforth's damaged eye. Danforth returned it with a terrific blow on Lynch's jaw bone, knocking it all sideway. When time was called it was discovered that the blow had broken Lynch's jaw. Lynch was placky, and fought on. The twentieth was hot. Lynch upper cut Danforth twice, and once caught him in the stomach. Danforth was weak, but he got in several hot ones on Lynch's broken jaw, When time was called both were blowing, hard. The twenty-first was hotter still. Finally, in the twenty-first was hotter still. Finally, in the twenty-second, Danforth got in a right hand upper-cut on Lynch's jaw and he went down on his hands and knees. It was partly due to the slippery floor and partly to the force of the blow. As he was getting up, Danforth deliberately struck him three hard blows. There were wild howls of "Foul! foul!" from Lynch's friends. Lynch got up in a moment and went to his corner.

Referee Donohue allowed the claim of foul and awarded the fight to Lynch. Danforth deliberately struck him three hard
